The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing Alumni Association presents

100 Years of Tradition

1883-1983

Anniversaries are an opportunity to look at the past and the future. Nursing (a verb) has changed very little in the past 100 years. Nursing was and Nursing is caring for people, helping them to gain or keep good health.

Nursing (the profession) has changed remarkably in the past 100 years. It has adapted to every advance, every new set of knowledge and, as a result, remains a major focal point of the health system.

100 years ago, The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing graduate was known for her competence and professionalism, her tasks then, like health care generally, custodial. Today our School of Nursing graduate is still known for her/his competence and professionalism, as part of the health care team. We were good, we are good — I am proud!

Clive R. Waxman, Jr.
President
The Williamsport Hospital

Congratulations to The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing on their celebration of 100 years of service to the profession of Nursing. A special commendation to the students and faculty whose commitment to quality patient care has remained steadfast during the past decades.

Bettyann Hazel
Director of Nursing
The Williamsport Hospital

We, the members of the Lycoming County Medical Society, take great pleasure in having been closely associated with this fine clinical school of nursing for the past one hundred years.

Your graduates have been a credit to the nursing profession and humanity. Nurses have assisted and taken care of patients in an understanding and professional way.

We congratulate you on your anniversary and know that the next hundred years will continue to be a success.

Sincerely,

When an institution reaches it's 100th anniversary of existence, that is certainly worthy of recognition. The idea behind the publication of this book was to provide that recognition.

The number of events that have taken place and the number of people who have taken part in those events is huge. It has been no small task to collect, select, verify and compile the vast amounts of facts, hearsay, books, pictures and assorted memorabilia amassed in those 100 years. Although it has not been an easy job, it has been a rewarding effort. We may be proud of The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing for the quality of nurse it has always produced. And we may be proud of our graduates for their many contributions both to the profession of nursing and to the many people they have cared for around the world.

We would like to thank all the alumni, and others, who have so generously donated materials, indentified pictures, researched old records, searched for addresses and made hundreds of phone calls to help us in our effort to piece together a century of time. Without their help this book would never have been possible.

Unfortunately there are always some bits of information that are lost forever to time and memory. We have made every effort to include photos of as many graduates as we could locate and to correctly identify all individuals in the photos we used. We have attempted to insure correct spelling of names, to provide current addresses and to verify the facts we have published. If there are any errors made or additions needed, we urge you to send corrected data to the Alumni Association, c/o the School of Nursing.

The entire staff hopes that you will enjoy looking through this book as much as we have enjoyed producing it.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, WHSN!

The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing

The Williamsport Hospital and the School of Nursing came into being only a few years apart, and in response to the same growing need for improved health care in Lycoming County. Therefore, their histories are closely intertwined, especially in the earlier stages of their development. Until the mid-1800's Williamsport had had little need for a hospital. The community, after all, was very small and its people had long been used to looking after their own needs. But in the two decades following 1850, a significant amount of industry came to the area, bringing with it a larger population and the inevitable increase in illness, accidents and disease. Something, clearly, had to be done.

Right Dr. Jean Saylor Brown

The first step was initiated in May of 1873 by Dr. J. S. Crawford who asked the Lycoming County Medical Association to establish a committee to investigate the feasibility of establishing a hospital. The committee, comprised of Doctors Crawford, Detwiler and Helsby, soon returned a favorable recommendation, which was unanimously accepted by the Medical Association. In what must, even then, have been a record for rapid action, the hospital was incorporated on August 30, 1873 — a little over three months after Dr. Crawford formed the feasibility committee!

During the next several years, the Board of Managers raised funds for the purchase of a suitable building. Then, on November 22, 1877, the Board bought the former Harvey Boarding House located on the southeast corner of Edwin and Elmira Streets. On April 1, 1878 the dream became reality: The Williamsport Hospital opened its doors. During its first year of operation, the meager facilities of the small hospital served nine patients, each of whom paid the princely sum of $3.00 a week for room and board.

Among the physicians who contributed to the early welfare of the hospital were Doctors Brown, Nutt, Detwiler, Helsby, Crawford, Lyon, Hull, Richter and Rittenhouse. In those days doctoring often included nursing, and thus many of the doctors spent the days treating their patients and the nights caring for them. Dr. Jean Saylor Brown was particularly notable in these early years. A conscientious and energetic person, Dr. Brown extended herself on behalf of the patients. Because of her conviction that they received inadequate care, she was always eager to perform any task that would help to make the hospital a better, more efficient place. Among other things, she acted as special and night nurse for the three nights following surgery. Dr. Brown not only performed the first successful operation of significance in Lycoming County; she also contributed the first $100.00 toward an operating room, and she was the first woman to serve on the hospital's Board of Managers.

The number of patients served by the hospital rapidly increased; in 1880-1881, for example, 54 patients were admitted. To deal with the additional demands made on its services, the hospital required some sort of formal supervision. The position of Superintendent and Resident Physician was created, and on November 9, 1881 Dr. Rita Biansia Church was appointed to fill that role. Dr. Church was accompanied by Miss Marie Griffith, who became the first resident nurse.

For the next three years Doctors Church and Brown were the driving force behind the hospital. They made their own suppositories and ointments and treated their patients with great diligence. During these years the hospital was working at full capacity, and the demands of nursing care created an increasing burden on the doctors. It became evident that additional help was needed to care for the many patients. Out of this need, Doctor Church, with the aid and support of Dr. Brown, established The Williamsport Hospital Training School for Nurses.

Daily sweep and mop the floors of your ward; dust patient's furniture and window sills; Maintain an even temperature in your ward by bringing in a scuttle of coal daily; Light is important to observe the patient's condition. Therefore, each day, fill kerosene lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks. Wash the windows once a week; The nurses' notes are important in aiding the physicians's work. Make your pens carefully. You may whittle nibs to your individual taste; Duty hours are 7a.m. to 8p.m., except on the Sabbath, on which day you will be off from 12 noon to 2p.m. Graduate nurses in good standing with the director of nurses will be given an evening off each week for courting purposes or two evenings a week if you go to church regularly; Each nurse should lay aside from each pay a goodly sum of her earnings for her benefits during her declining years so that she will not become a burden. Any nurse who smokes, uses liquor in any form, gets her hair done at a beauty shoppe or frequents dance halls will give the director of nurses reason to suspect her worth, intentions and integrity; The nurse who performs her labors and serves her patients and doctors faithfully and without fault for a period of five years will be given an increase by the hospital administration of five cents a day, providing there are no hospital debts that are outstanding.

organdy and a black velvet ribbon. Their responsibilities included preparing meals and doing laundry for patients; laundering and caring for the hospital's and resident physicians' linens; cleaning and maintaining the surgical instruments; managing the furnace; and providing complete bedside care for the patient. There is no record of what they did in their spare time! Of the two students enrolled in the program in the first year of the school's operation, only one, J. Alta King, is recorded as having received her diploma in 1884.

On June 5, 1883, two women were admitted as nursing trainees to the 15 month program, with the understanding that they would receive no pay for the probationary first three months. These women took classes from Church and Brown, and in general followed a regimen patterned after the formal hospital experience of physicians. After the probationary period, the students began to receive a stipend of $3.00 a month. They lived on hospital premises and worked 12 to 16 hours a day. The uniform they wore had long detachable cuffs, a high collar, full leg-of-mutton sleeves, and a large bow at the neck. The first cap was a high-crowned skull cap edged with a band of pleated

On May 1, 1885 the hospital moved to more spacious quarters on Pine Street where it now had the capacity to handle 50 patients. There were two graduates from the training school that year and their training included practical experience gained by attending mothers during labor and after the baby was delivered. Dr. Church continued her 15 month course much the same as when it was started, with students being responsible for most of the cooking and cleaning in addition to patient care. Ironically, the founding fathers of the very hospital that sponsored the school were not convinced that the graduate nurses were skilled enough to work at The Williamsport Hospital! The hospital employed only nurses from more established schools, while the graduates of its own nursing school were forced to seek work elsewhere.

The flood of 1889 devastated the building on Pine Street, creating a need to locate a site on higher ground for a permanent hospital. The Board of Managers purchased the land, then known as Old Oaks Park, extending from First Avenue to Walnut Street and north from Louisa Street, and construction began on the new hospital. This new building, which opened in September 1891, consisted of three parts. The center portion was three stories high and contained the administrative offices on the first floor, and sleeping quarters for the residents and a staff dining room on the second floor. The student nurses were housed on the third floor in one large dormitory room. The east and west wings comprised the women's and men's wards.

Demonstrating the concern of the medical community to control contagion, the Contagious Disease Hospital was built in 1892 on the corner of Rural Avenue and Campbell Street. By now the school was well established and contagious diseases were added to the curriculum so that the students were prepared to work in this new area.

On March 10, 1893, Dr. Church resigned as Superintendent of the hospital and was succeeded by Miss Virginia Loomis, the first Nurse Superintendent. Recognizing a need for more clinical experience in nursing schools, Miss Loomis increased the length of the nursing program to two years in 1894. She agreed with and implemented many of the theories of Florence Nightingale. The general picture of the nursing school, however, did not change: theoretical knowledge was still presented by the physicians and the students' clinical responsibilities remained the same.

In 1895, the nursing school developed its own Alumni Association. This idea was suggested by Miss Loomis who felt such an association could be a strong supporter of school unity and would promote professionalism.

The rapidly increasing number of patients being admitted to the hospital brought a corresponding need for more nurses. Because of this, and the fact that more young women of this era were now seeking institutions of higher learning and choosing nursing as a profession, the school's enrollment expanded.

In 1898, under the direction of Miss Daisy Mann, the new Superintendent, a more practical cap was designed for the students. It was smaller and fashioned in the shape of a small peak. In an effort to give the uniform a more tailored look, ruffles and bows were removed. Then, in 1899, Miss Mann requested a senior student, Josephine Heiney, to design a cap which could be adopted as the school cap. This cap was worn until the current permanent-press cap was adopted in 1967. Miss Heiney also had the distinction of being the first graduate of the training school to be hired by the hospital.

By the end of the century, the most pressing problem of the training school was adequate housing for the students. A local benefactor who took great interest in the nursing school, Mrs. Ida Hays McCormick, generously donated funds to build and furnish a new residence. Located on Louisa Street at the southeast corner of Old Oaks Park, this beautiful building was the main residence for students and faculty for 60 years.

The turn of the century brought many changes to the school as Miss Mann first increased the training program to two and one half years and then, in 1900, to three full years. She also incorporated new educational ideas into the curriculum and taught some classes herself, becoming the first nurse instructor. Physicians still lectured, but the students were now being introduced to nursing theory, as well as nursing care and treatment. With remarkable advances in medicine and surgery, patient care became more complex and the responsibilities of the nurse were magnified, leaving her little time for such menial tasks as carrying coal and doing laundry. She concentrated more on patient care, including preparing special diets, preparing and changing poultices, assisting physicians with rounds and charts, caring for surgical instruments, and preparing salves and ointments. She still worked 12 to 14 hour shifts with an occasional hour off to attend church.

In 1918, the Pennsylvania State Board of Nurse Examiners was authorized to approve schools of nursing. The Williamsport Hospital Training School for Nurses received approval and Dr. Rita Church's dream was reinforced. The three year program was in full swing under the direction of Miss Mann. The hospital had grown from a small nine-patient facility to a 100 bed unit. With qualified physicians, surgeons, and nurses, the hospital had become the focal point of health care for Lycoming County.

A major reorganization of hospital administration took place in 1925 and for the first time Nursing was separate from hospital Administration. Dr. Rush Castelaw became Administrator and Miss Lulu Hipple, a 1907 graduate of the training school, was named Director of Nurses. Enormous progress had been made considering that only 45 years before this the training schools' graduates were not thought worthy of employment at The Williamsport Hospital. Now one had been chosen Director of Nurses!

Except for the years 1928-1930 when Miss Isabelle Tremor and Miss Mazie Murray served one-year terms as directors, Miss Hipple remained in charge from 1925-1946. Under her strict and able guidance the diploma school gained recognition as "one of the best" in Northeastern Pennsylvania. She believed strongly in professionalism and stressed this as an important part of the nursing students' development. Students now received approximately 300 hours of theoretical instruction in the three years of training, and a monthly stipend was paid them for their clinical work. Out of this stipend they had to pay a fee for broken articles such as bedpans, dishes, and thermometers.

An ever-present problem for the school was the housing of students. Since the McCormick Nurses Home could not accomodate the expanding enrollment, other housing was constantly being sought. One dormitory had been converted from the unused contagious disease unit and affectionately termed the "Annex." At other times students were lodged in the old pediatrics building on Rural Avenue and occasionally in private homes. Dickinson Seminary and Junior College (Lycoming College), having very few male students during World War II, had extra room so that some first-year nurses were housed there. In 1942, Irvin Gleason, a member of the Board of Managers, provided two buildings that were converted into nurses' residences. One, called "The Maples," was located at 850 Louisa Street, and the other was on Campbell Street near Park Avenue.

In 1943, Mr. Daniel Hartman, Administrator, attended a meeting in Harrisburg, Pa. where the U. S. Cadet Nurse Corps plan was discussed. He immediately made contact with Miss Hipple to incorporate this program into the Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing. In September of that year the Surgeon General approved the school and the program went into effect. The Cadet Nurse Corps program doubled the enrollment so that for two years, two separate classes were started, one in September and one in February. The government paid tuition costs, provided uniforms and also paid each girl a small monthly stipend.

Miss G. Winifred Evans was named Director of Nursing in 1948 following Miss A. E. Wuethner (1946-1948). The post-war years, with the advent of antibiotics and increasing emphasis on research, effected vast changes in the medical world, and the school of nursing adapted to meet these new challenges. Since Nursing education was being directed toward institutions of higher learning at this time, the students were taught Chemistry, Microbiology, Anatomy, and Physiology at Lycoming College.

A contract was made with the Warren State Hospital during this same period to provide students with three months of psychiatric education. They lived at the institution in one of the few buildings without bars at the windows. Second year students went to Warren in groups of five to ten and took their training with students from several other nursing schools in the state. During this three month "affiliation" they were taught by psychiatric nurse instructors in formal classes but received most of their education from clinical observation and practice. They worked in the Administration Building, Geriatrics, and the Mitchell Building which contained the more severely disturbed female patients.

Although great progress was taking place in medical areas, some changes at the school were slow in coming. Into the late 50's, under the gentle but firm direction of Miss Evans, student life remained very restrictive. For example, students were required to be in the Nurses' Home by 10:00 p.m., and written permission was needed to stay out later. Requests for late leaves had to be made in person, in uniform, at the nursing school office by 4:30 p.m. Junior students could request a late leave until 11:00 p.m., Intermediates until 11:30, and Seniors until 12 o'clock. No student was allowed to be out past midnight! The School of Nursing had the right to revoke one or all privileges for an unlimited length of time following the review of any misdemeanor — — — and often did.

The first six months of training was considered the probationary period. This time of intense study and introduction to the hospital wards was designed to test the suitability of the preclinical student to the nursing profession. Their uniform was a dark blue and white striped dress with a starched white apron, collar and cuffs, with a black cotton tie at the neck. Called "probies" by the upperclassmen, these beginning trainees were required to be in the nurses' home by 7:00 p.m. with study hours from 7:30 to 10:00 and "lights out" at 10:30 p.m.

Upon successful completion of the required clinical procedures and the attainment of a passing grade in all subjects, the probies were eligible for capping. When this occurred, the black tie was removed and for the first time the student wore the white bib that matched her apron. The capping ceremony, reflecting all that had been achieved, was an impressive and solemn service. Students carried small lamps with lighted candles, recited the Nightingale Pledge and received their cap from the Nursing Arts Instructor.

From 1959 to 1971, when Miss Anna E. Pfaff was Director of Nursing, vast cultural changes were taking place. Women in general were developing a better sense of self-awareness and a greatly heightened sense of self-esteem. Such changes in the way women regarded themselves made a significant difference in an almost totally female profession — Nursing. Nurses wanted to be more involved with the planning of nursing care and to work side by side with the physician instead of feeling subservient to him. The handmaiden was gone forever!

By the late 50's, housing was once again a prime concern. The four residences were old buildings in need of major repairs and largely unsuitable for occupancy. The original hospital building was still being used as an educational unit. The west wing contained Medical Hall and conference rooms and the east wing the nursing education offices, classrooms, and the library. Plans were drawn to demolish both the old hospital building and the McCormick Nurses' Home and to construct in their place a dwelling large enough to house all students under one roof. A public appeal was made for funds to finance this important project. The community responded favorably, with the first pledge for $100,000 coming from The Williamsport Hospital Auxiliary. The new facility, opened March 12, 1961, contained not only housing but an educational wing with classrooms, faculty offices, and an auditorium. The residence has the capacity to accomodate 138 students, three housemothers, and a full-time residence director.

A radical transformation in the school took place when males were admitted to the program. Two male students entered the school in 1961, and on September 4, 1964, David Ranck became Williamsport's first male graduate nurse. There have been many male graduates since and they have added a new dimension to an old, established program.

The changes that had begun in the 60's were escalating rapidly in the 70's. Mrs. Celia D. Blanks, the Director from 1971 to 1977, was instrumental in the revisions taking place. A welcome modification occurred, in 1971, when the blue and white striped uniform with detachable collar, cuffs, apron and bib was finally, after four decades, replaced by a one piece dress. This permapress uniform, still worn today, is a short sleeved, light blue and white pin-striped shift with a full-length white insert to resemble the apron, and has a white collar and cuffs. At last students no longer had to suffer the discomfort of the rough, highly starched pieces of the uniform or the painful hours of reassembling the uniform piece by piece with pearl studs and pins after each laundering. Probably the biggest change in uniform style came in 1975 when a pantsuit style was approved. This was a tunic which was simply a shorter version of the one piece dress worn over white slacks and gave the student an option of two styles. The stripes, which denoted the years in training, were now worn on the cap instead of on the collar. In 1980 a blue and white pin-striped shirt similar to the girl's tunic was adapted for the male students.

On July 1, 1973 the contract between Lycoming College and the school of nursing was revised to allow nursing students 24 college credits for courses taken there. This was an important step toward increasing the school's role as an institution of higher learning, and it elevated the student nurses' credibility when furthering their education. In October of this same year, the length of the program was reduced from three full years to three academic years. This enabled instructors time to evaluate the curriculum and make necessary changes. In providing summer vacations, it also gave students an opportunity to supplement their income to help meet the rising costs of tuition.

In 1975, the school petitioned the National League for Nurses to review its program for accreditation. This certification, desired by all nursing schools, is a sign of excellence. In preparation for the committee's visitation, the staff worked even more diligently than usual to meet the necessary requirements, and in 1976 the N.L.N. accreditation was granted.

Another significant reorganization took place in 1977. Miss Jean C. Balliet was named Director of Nursing Education, thus separating the nursing school from the Department of Nursing. The school had had Directors of Education before this, but they had always been under the supervision of the Director of Nursing. Now the school would be a separate entity.

Today's students have a more varied background upon entrance into the school than previously. While many are the traditional student just graduated from high school, others may have attended college or worked several years prior to enrollment. Still others may be married or divorced and already have families they have partially or completely reared before returning to school themselves. The nursing students of the 80's enjoy many freedoms unknown to their predecessors since there are no restrictions placed on their evening and weekend time. However, they are more closely supervised during their time on the clinical units as a nursing instructor is always available. This is the same degree-prepared instructor who provides the majority of didactic materials. Some theory is of course provided by college professors and occasionally by guest lecturers from allied health care fields such as doctors, pharmacologists, physical therapists, and dietitions. Young men and women now gain clinical experience in a variety of settings within the community that include observational visits to nursing homes, doctors' offices, institutions, private homes, and several different clinic systems. The clinical student of today is expected to use the nursing process in conjunction with a holistic philosophy of nursing in order to make judgments about their patients' needs and then formulate individual plans of care for each patient. In addition, today's students are strongly urged to be politically aware and to become actively involved in their professional organizations.

The nurse in training 100 years ago functioned in much the same capacity as she would upon graduation. With today's vast number of treatment modalities, numerous areas of specialization, and increasing number of expanded roles, the student nurses in school now may not even have a chance to observe all the opportunities available to them upon their entry into practice. Although today's graduates do not personally provide for every aspect of their patients' care; since many aspects of patient care that were once provided directly by the nurse have now been given over to specialized ancillary departments such as Respiratory Therapy, Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation, Pharmacy, IV team, and Central Service: they do still remain at the hub; acting as patient advocate and correlating the services needed in the patients' treatment regimen.

Dr. Rita Church could not possibly have conceived of where nursing would go in 100 years. She would be delighted, however, to see how the school she founded has continually advanced to remain current with demands placed upon it by changes in the profession. She would be pleased to find an active, viable school operating in Williamsport at a time when many other diploma programs have closed their doors. Mostly she would be very proud to know that the graduates take with them a hard-earned expertise that continues to make The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing known and respected throughout the United States.

A graduate of 1925 describes her probationary period . . . We were mostly in classes, but in between we went to the assigned wards and added duties as we learned them. We had two hours off duty time daily, one half a day weekly and every other Sunday evening. When classes occurred on off duty time you lost one hour of your off duty time. Duty rotations were made every four months. No over night stays were allowed. One of our class mates made history when in our senior year she asked permission to go the her fiance's college for House Party week-end and was allowed to go. We couldn't believe it!

Student Rooms

A typical day as described by a graduate of 1926 . . . Floor report from the night nurse started at 7 a.m. Next came the patient's bath and back rub and linen changes. Patients never took their own baths and no tubs or washing facilities were located in the rooms. After morning care came medications, doctors' rounds, any special treatments, straighten linen closets, check medicine cabinets to ensure an adequate supply of frequently used medications. At noon or 12:30 you received a half hour lunch, if you could get away, often leaving only one nurse on the floor — woe to you if a doctor appeared to make rounds and couldn't find a nurse! In the afternoon you did the usual bell answering and PM treatments, medicines, etc. Supper was at five then back to give the last hour of TID medicines, evening care and evening report to the night nurse at 7 p.m. All backs were rubbed! All patients had hands washed for them if they were not able to use a bedside basin. If the nurse was not finished at 7 p.m. she stayed until her work was completed — often 9 o'clock.

Nurses did not work professionally after marriage. Work was not easy to come by at that time. Nurses were frequently unemployed as most worked as private duty nurses. The only graduates on the floors were supervisors. Unless the husband was ill or a drunkard a married nurse was practically ostracized if she worked. It was seen as "taking the bread out of our mouths" by those who were single.

From the early 30's . . . There were no packaged supplies and no Central Service. Students made cotton balls, cotton tipped applicators and cut and packaged gauze dressings. They also sterilized all cathater trays, enema trays and douche trays. There were no disposable syringes and needles so these also had to be cleaned and sterilized. These jobs were done on the floors and there were sterilizers for each purpose. Students also made all peri-pads for use in the hospital.

Students worked 10 hour days and were on call during the night for emergencies in the Operating Room and Labor and Delivery.

In Peds, students prepared the formulas as well as sterilizing the bottles and nipples. Occasionally the container of nipples boiled dry and the nipples burned — what a smell!

Each day all bedpans and urinals were taken to a room at the end of the wards and placed in a bathtub to be soaked in a strong cleaning solution, then scrubbed and hung on racks to dry. No one looked forward to this job!

Each night, flowers were removed from the patient rooms, dead blooms were removed, fresh water added and then the flowers were placed outside the patients' rooms. It was believed that flowers left in the room would depleate the oxygen supply in the room.

Students on night duty made supper for the entire night staff if they were assigned to the kitchen.

There were interns in the hospital at the time. They lived on the first floor of the North Building in the west wing. Students were not allowed to date them!!

Those who gave guidance . . .

From 1927 graduate . . . we had a seniority rule during training. Upperclassmen were to be allowed to enter a room or elevator first and you never walked ahead of an upperclassmen. Of course no one went ahead of a doctor!

From the late 30's and 40's . . . We were up at 6 a.m. Your room had to be neat and your bed made before leaving for breakfast and roll call in the dining room. Sometimes we had to line up in front of the nursing office and have the hem of our dress measured to ensure correct length. We were to be on duty by 6:45, get report, take TPR's, do bathes, change beds, clean the wards, dust beds, clean bedside stands, put urinals and bedpans to soak, clean individual thermometer holders and still be in class at 9 a.m. Classes were from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, then a half hour lunch, then class from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. and then back on the floor for duty from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. or 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. We were required to be in our room for study from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m., then had to have lights out by 11 p.m. The housemother kept count of any infraction and they were reported to the Director of Nursing.

We worked 10 and 12 hour days. We went on night duty after six months training and we were the only nurse on the floor from 7 p.m. until 7 a.m. In the North Buiding the student nurse from Labor and Delivery relieved each floor for one to two hours off during the night if she was not busy. If she was busy we worked 12 hours with only being relieved for half hour supper around 11 p.m.

The nurse mixed her own IV's by adding 50% glucose to normal saline or distilled water. There were no directions as to dosage or amount printed on medication labels, therefore we were required to compute it ourselves. All narcotics came in small tablets and we boiled water in a small frying-pan shaped container over an alcohol heater, dissolved the tablet in an amount the allowed easy arithmetic to determine proper dose, and discarded the unneeded part of the solution.

There was a tennis court at the back of the North Building during the 30's and 40's. Students were allowed to wear shorts to play tennis and to go to and from the tennis court, but that was the ONLY time shorts were allowable.

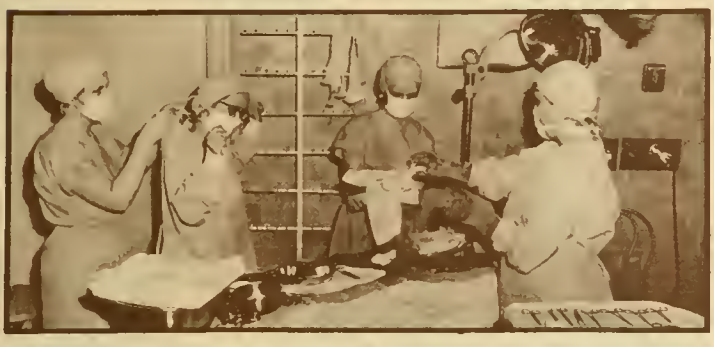
Taken from "Rules and Regulations for Students to be Enforced by the House Committee" dated 1944 . . . Rooms No nails may be driven into the walls for hanging pictures. No adhesive to be used anywhere. Turn off all lights not in use. Scholarship Students failing to maintain a passing average will be placed on study hours five nights a week. Telephones Night nurses may phone 7 a.m. to 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Other nurses 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Grooming Slacks are not to be worn at any time except when the student is going bicycling. Summer months During summer months when classes are not in session students are allowed out until 10:30 p.m. without a late leave permission. Additions By consensus of the School of Nursing Committee it has been deemed necessary to have a study period twice a week from 8 'til 10 p.m. for every student. Until further notice all students may have one over-nite leave a week or one late leave a week, not both. In the future all rules of the School of Nursing must be obeyed by every student.

Classrooms

Miss Hipple and Miss McKeague would make evening rounds throughout the hospital after supper. They would check to see that the bedside tables were neatly arranged, that all cleaning had been done, that trash cans were emptied, that the bed were lined up straight and that the wards were generally in order.

During the polio epidemic, patients were cared for in the isolation unit located on the first floor, East Wing of the North Building and later in the Way Memorial Unit. Iron lungs were used and much of the care consisted of passive range of motion exercises, application of hot packs and massage.

Specialty Areas



Excerpts from "Handbook for Students" 1956. The conduct of a nurse is that of a lady. The student should learn to walk quickly and quietly. The nurse uses no perfume, but depends on good bathing habits for her cleanliness. Two fountain pens, bandage scissors, watch with second hand, and nail clippers must be carried at all times while in uniform. In the residences, nurses are not to congregate at the windows nor call to persons from the window. Window shades must be drawn at night. No individual room door may be locked except by the housemother. Ash trays must be provided by the student and she is responsible to empty them routinely. In using the Recreation Hall, the rooms used to entertain your guests will be well lighted at all times.

One student during the 50's related an amusing memory. On one of her first days on the clinical units as a "Probie" she was instructed to 'tear up' a chart. She questioned if she was really to tear it up and was told to do so. The student did exactly what she was told and then spent the next few hours gluing it back together again!

The first year that "The Oak" was published was 1953.

Just for fun . . .

A graduate of the class of 1966 remembers when several of the girls formed a singing group and called themselves "The Beetles." They went to the SNAP convention and won first prize in a contest.

A member of the class of 1967 informed us that that was the year the first married student graduated.

Members of the class of 1970 may recall a 'sit-in' on the front lawn.

The 70's brought two new styles in uniforms — both great improvements.

1980 was the graduation of the first couple to go through school married. It was also the first year to have the privilege of co-ed visitation . . . it was also the same year that the policy was revoked!

. . . and more fun

FEW SCHOOLS OF NURSING HAVE THE HONOR AND PRIVILEGE OF BEING OLD — WE ARE

The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing is special. Faculty have been accepting female students for over 100 years. The first male student entered in 1961 — long before many other schools were able or willing to admit them.

The School of Nursing is needed. Drawing most of its students from within the a fifty mile radius around Williamsport, it supplies professional nurses to all area hospitals. Classmates are usually only a local phone call away.

The School of Nursing is excellent. In the last decade, the success rate of our graduates on the State Board Examination has consistently been over ninety percent.

The School of Nursing is ever-changing. Each summer, the faculty reviews the total curriculum using student, graduate, and employer evaluations. Revisions are made based upon sound recommendations and in concert with state and national criteria. Keeping abreast of the current state of the art and trends in Nursing education, our graduates are guaranteed a sound background of knowledge and skills upon which they will continue to build their entire professional lives.

The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing is constantly being challenged. As federal and state scholarship and loan funds for student assistance are decreasing measurably each year, the Financial Aid Officer must expand her knowledge of institutions and organizations who support students of nursing. In comparison to many colleges, tuition to the school has been kept relatively low in order to allow candidates from all economic strata an affordable quality education. Members of the Alumni are commended for their continued financial support to needy students.

Each time the National League for Nursing criteria and the Rules and Regulations of the Pennsylvania State Board of Nurse Examiners are revised, the minimum educational standards for faculty are increased. Faculty are now required to have earned a Master's degree in nursing. Those without a M.S.N., however, find it extremely difficult to hold a full-time position and also continue their education at a graduate level.

These are only a few of the challenges facing the faculty and the students. What we can expect in the next one hundred years is truly not known. I will state, however, that while many hospital schools of nursing have closed throughout the United States, strong diploma programs such as ours will continue to remain a viable educational option for young men and women.

The Alumni Association

The Alumni Association

The Alumni Association of The Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing was founded in 1895, 11 years after the school graduated its first student. Today, over 450 of the nearly 1900 nurses that have graduated from the program, are members of this organization. Regular meetings have been held throughout the association's 88 year history, and the nurses who attend these meetings are dedicated to maintaining the standards of nursing practice, as established by the school.

From the time of its inception until the present day, the functions of the association have remained essentially the same. These objectives are: to promote professional and school unity among graduates; to support the program and interests of the school; to provide for educational advancement of nurses; and to support the district, state and national nurses' organizations. In fulfilling these goals, the Alumni members have gathered an impressive record of service to their fellow graduates, to the community and to the school.

Kathryn Agnes White Crowe, class of 1898. Served as Alumni president during 1907 and 1908

To promote professional and school unity among graduates, many projects were started in the early years of the association's existence. These undertakings were so successful that they became traditions, and many are still popular today. The involvement with state and national organizations, the Nurses' Relief Fund, the selection of a graduate pin, and the reception for senior nurses were all started during the society's first 20 years. These achievements, plus the Nurses' Registry and the Scholarship Fund, which were established later in the Alumni's history, are worthy of note.

As early as 1905, the Alumni joined the State Associated Alumni and later they became affiliated with nursing organizations on the national and district levels. For many years, the association provided for the president and usually one other active member to attend the annual state convention. These delegates brought back to the membership information concerning legislation and current trends in nursing. In recent years the organization has sponsored two nurses to attend the annual "Nursing East" Conference of the Pennsylvania Nurses' Association. This three-day symposium is designed to provide information on a variety of subjects in all aspects of nursing service and nursing administration. Nurses with degrees or diplomas attend these meetings and are able to accumulate continuing education credits.

In the early 1900's, nurses were not covered by any hospitalization or sick benefits, so the Alumni formed a Nurses' Relief Fund to provide financial aid for members who were ill and could not work. In 1907, the association was comprised of approximatily 70 members and each member was assessed quarterly dues of ten cents, in addition to the annual dues, to get the fund started. To generate additional funds, the nurses held lawn festivals and fairs for which they made baked goods and "fancy articles." In later years, to maintain this fund, they held card parties, dances, bazaars and rummage sales. Participating in these projects to raise money for this worthy cause developed esprit de corps among the graduates. The Alumni not only gave financial aid to their members, but they also contributed generously to the welfare of Dr. Church, the school's founder, in her retirement.

Monetary aid also came from other sources. For instance, Miss Daisy B. Mann, having served as Director of Nurses for nearly three decades, directed in her will that a fund be set up in her name. This endowment, which continues today, is used by Alumni members who are hospitalized at The Williamsport Hospital and are in need of financial support. The Alumni Association has the privilege of suggesting nurses who might be eligible to benefit from this fund, each suggestion being subject to the approval of the hospital's Board of Managers.

One important symbol to the association has been the graduate pin. The selection of this pin, to be presented to nurses upon graduation, appears to have been no easy task. Since many early members expressed a desire for some formal designation of the school from which they graduated, the Alumni established a committee in 1906 to investigate the possibility of a school pin. The first design they agreed upon was rejected by the hospital committee. Evidently other designs submitted were not approved either, for in February 1908, the recorded minutes state that "it was decided to give up the idea of a school pin and try to get an Alumni pin instead." At the April meeting of the same year, a pin was chosen from a catalogue of Dieges and Clust Jewelers, the same company from which pins are ordered today. Miss Hipple, who was chairman of the pin committee at that time, placed the first order, and the pins arrived in time for May commencement. The design of the pin chosen in 1908 appears to have been changed, around 1919, to the pin of the present day. The design of the current pin has a blue cross, encircled with gold oak leaves in the center, with the words "Williamsport Hospital" printed around the edge. The minutes of 1919 read, "The question of securing a regular hospital pin was brought up and Miss Meyers appointed to interview the proper authorities on the subject." Today, members of the class of 1919 feel that their class was the first to receive the gold pin that is considered to be the official graduate pin.

1908 was also important because in that year the Alumni Association first entertained the graduating class. This year, 1983, thus marks the 75th anniversary of this grand occasion. Although it began primarily as a social event, its continued prominence reflects the objectives of the organization by promoting school unity among graduates. Each year, every graduate of the school for which the Alumni has an address, receives an invitation to the annual reunion.

According to Alumni minutes, the first reception for senior nurses, > was held at the Park Hotel on the evening of January 19, 1908 and through the kindness and generosity of Mrs. Kavanaugh and her good husband the affair was a decided success. We were given the use of the West Parlor where the guests were received, the East Parlor for cards, and the Ballroom besides the use of two rooms on the second floor for the guests' wraps. The rooms were brilliantly illuminated and decorated with palms and carnations and delightful music was discoursed by the Stopper and Fisk Orchestra. Through the kindness of Mr. Fisk, six musicians were sent instead of four and all were appreciated highly. Sixty-three persons were present and all expressed themselves as being delighted with the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Kavanaugh, the former Mary O'Brien, class of 1894, was an active participant in the early Alumni Society.

The first reception was so successful that it was decided to make this an annual affair. During the past 75 years the format of the reception has gradually changed to the Annual Banquet and Dance, but from the beginning it has been a highlight of the year's activities.

The Alumni gained recognition not only for social events but for professional activities as well. A function of considerable importance to the community for many years was the Nurses' Registry. Today, seriously ill patients are cared for in a specialized unit such as Intensive Care, Coronary Care, or Post-Surgical Care, by nurses with experience in that particular area of nursing. This was not always so. Before the advent of these specialized units, the very sick were cared for, individually, by private-duty nurses. Registered nurses were employed by the family and they worked in the hospital and in the home, 12 hours a day, seven days a week for as many days, weeks or months as they were needed. Sometimes they worked 20 hour duty with four hours off during the day if the patient's condition was satisfactory. At night they slept on a cot in the patient's room, getting up to give the patient medications or feed the newborn, if it was a maternity case. Later, the private-duty nurse worked eight hour shifts and they would occasionally take a day or night off providing they could find a substitute.

By the late 1960's significant emphasis was placed on educational advancement of the registered nurse. The Pennsylvania Nurses' Association set up guidelines for nursing that would include professional status for nurses, with the projection that by 1985, all registered nurses would be required to have a degree in nursing. This proposal did not become legislation but it did have an impact on the diploma nurse, as many now began to attend college to work for a degree.

To aid graduates in obtaining a degree in nursing, the Alumni organized a scholarship fund. The fund was available for graduates enrolled in college, full time, in a nursing degree program. The Alumni directed that the amount of the loan would be reduced by 50% if the recipient of the loan subsequently worked for two years at The Williamsport Hospital. This was designed to encourage nurses with degrees to remain in the area.

In 1941, a Nurses' Registry was established by the Alumni to provide an organized system of supplying nurses for private-duty care of patients. Ten Alumni members donated $10.00 each to pay the required $100.00 Pennsylvania licensing fee needed to conduct a Registry. The Registry employed a full-time secretary who was responsible for taking requests for special nurses and filling those requests from the Registry membership. To join the Registry, a private-duty nurse paid an annual fee of $10.00 plus 5% of her wages the first year and 1% or 2% thereafter. The entrance fees and commissions paid the salary of the secretary and the telephone bills and kept the Registry going.

The Registry functioned as a separate unit of the Alumni and was governed by a five member committee elected by the association. The committee met monthly, transacted all businesses and made their own rules and regulations subject to the approval of the Alumni. They also made quarterly reports of their work and financial status to the membership at the regular meetings.

The fund grew impressively through the generosity of many Alumni who made donations. Unfortunately, not many graduates took advantage of this opportunity, so that in 1977 the program was revised. Because the members felt this money should be used, they contacted the School of Nursing and were informed that the financial need of the students was indeed great as the costs of tuition were increasing rapidly. After much deliberation, the Scholarship Committee recommended to the membership that the committee be dissolved and that money be donated, yearly, to the School of Nursing Scholarship Fund. A Financial Aid Officer, employed by the school, decides in what manner the money is disbursed and which students receive money.

Several thousand dollars have since been donated to the School of Nursing Scholarship Fund. There are no stipulations upon those receiving money, but the donation is made with the hope of persuading students to seek employment at The Williamsport Hospital after graduation.

In the past 25 years, the association has given a remarkable amount of financial aid to the school. Besides the funds given for scholarship, the Alumni has donated money to be used for recruitment of future nurses into the program. They also supplied funds for the purchase of books for the school library and for equipment and materials for the classrooms. In 1961, the association furnished the new nurses residence with china and a screen for the fireplace in the residence lounge. The Alumni pledged $5000 for the construction of this fine building which is the present nurses' home.

Senior students are invited at graduation to join the association; and in recent years, in an effort to encourage participation of new graduates, the dues for the first year of membership are paid for by the Alumni. In addition to being invited to the annual banquet and dance, all students receive a gift from the Alumni when they graduate.

Williamsport Hospital School of Nursing graduates have distinguished themselves in all areas of the profession, from clinical to administration. A considerable number have served in the military, many have gone into nursing education, many have entered into specialized fields, and many have earned bachelor, masters, and a few, have attained doctorate degrees. Throughout its history, the Alumni Association has looked with pride on the accomplishments of the graduates of the School of Nursing — and it looks forward to promoting and supporting the school for many years to come.

Items of interest . . .

In 1907, Alumni members purchased a silver tea service to be used for alumni functions at a total cost of $5.65

To create more interest in early alumni meetings and encourage graduates to attend, a suggestion was made to conduct a nursing quiz at the meetings. However, this idea never 'passed the test'

The entire cost of the reception for senior nurses at the Park Hotel in 1909 was $37.85.

On April 21, 1909, the Alumni entertained the state nurses association at the Park Hotel

In the 20's and 30's, the Alumni supported with donations, many worthy causes such as the Tuberculosis Society, the Red Cross and the Y.W.C.A.

The Alumni has published a semi-annual nurses Bulletin or an annual Newsletter for nearly 50 years

The annual bazaar held at the McCormick Nurses' Home in December 1938, netted the alumni $42.25

Demonstrations on methods of modern treatment were given at an alumni meeting held in Medical Hall in September 1939. In 1939, the following wage scale was adopted for 12 hour private duty in Williamsport: $5.00 per day for general care and maternity cases without care of the baby . . . $6.00 per day for maternity care including baby and for infectious cases

Following a tuberculosis institute held in Medical Hall on October 5, 1940 the Alumni hosted District Four nurses at a tea in the nurses home

WHSN graduates served in the armed forces in both WW I and WW II. The Alumni organization bought Liberty Bonds and aided the efforts of the Red Cross by making bandages and by enrolling in the Red Cross Nursing Reserve. Several alumni members have served their country during the Korean and Vietnam conflicts, and in peace times as well

The wage scale of general duty nurses at TWH as presented to the Association at the February 1958 meeting: $1.50/hour for part-time duty; full-time rates were $230/month for day shift and $235/month for evenings and nights; $5.00/month raises were given every six months for five times

In 1967, Merck Manuals were purchased by the Alumni and placed in every nurses' station on each floor of the hospital

Also, in 1967, the Alumni, after much debate, voted yes, by a narrow margin, on the proposal that graduates add a black band to their caps

At a cost of nearly $1000, a Stryker frame was donated for use in the new rehabilitation building of the hospital

The Alumni Association received in 1968, a gift of $1500 from Mr. Edward N. Lewis, as an expression of thanks for the excellent care and attention he had received as a patient at the hospital.

In 1973, $500 was donated to the hospital inservice library for the purchase of up-do-date books. In addition, significant sums of money were donated to the school of nursing library

The Holiday dinner, a tradition of the alumni for many years, is a special occasion for local members, with 50 to 75 members in attendance

Annual dues in 1905 were $1.00 — today they are $5.00. Not too much of an increase in 88 years!
